To whom it may concern:

During the 2008 golf season The Club at Bond Head enlisted the services of Bye Bye Birdie Goose Control Services Ltd. owned and operated by Sherri Hall. The level of service provided was impeccable. We received an initial property analysis which outlined the goose population size, egg depredation activities and general flock observations.

The hazing with professionally trained dogs and handlers was very impressive. Sometimes services were rendered twice daily to cover the large golf course property. Remote control boats were also used to get the birds out of the water. The handlers were always dressed in uniform and were very polite and courteous to the customers when on property. They were also very informative and kept us updated with their activities.

Throughout the season we did not have any complaints regarding defecating geese. In previous years goose droppings were a major concern with the cleanliness and playability of certain holes. Egg oiling was also performed to diminish population sizes and discourage future nesting sites on the property. The services provided by Bye Bye Birdie were both humane and very effective.

Sherri Hall is an inspirational entrepreneur and should be commended for her fine work with building and growing this impressive business. The Club at Bond Head will continue to use Bye Bye Birdie for all our goose control and we would recommend any property owners who suffer with these pests to also use their services.

Sincerely,

Ian McQueen
